

ABOUT JAN HILL

"Jan is a gift--smart, passionate, discerning, focused and possessing a great heart!"

-Pam McLean, CEO of The Hudson Institute of Santa Barbara

Author, Speaker, Consultant, Certified Coach, Facilitator, and Instructional Designer

Career Summary

Jan Hill is a dynamic speaker, facilitator, and personal coach who is dedicated to helping people recognize their unique genius and use their gifts to lead the most satisfying life possible. She attracts leaders and teams who are already successful, but who want to drive personal and/or team success to an even more significant level.

Her global work experience spans start-ups, mergers and acquisitions, mature company challenges, business turnarounds, talent development, and leadership succession.

Jan founded her consulting,/coaching company, Hill Enterprises, Inc., in 1990 following a successful ten-year career with Procter & Gamble where she led her diverse sales team to year over year #1 ranking (with annual revenues of $300+ million) in the competitive paper products business.

Client, Organization, and Industry Experience

Naturally curious, Jan has learned and thrived by facilitating sustainable solutions for clients across industries and around the globe. She's created and coached various leadership, team, and high-potential development programs at companies who are leaders in their field. Her work over the past 15 years has been 100% referral, reflecting her clients' satisfaction.

Satisfied clients include Microsoft Corporation, Procter & Gamble, Intuit, IBM, Verizon, 3M Company, Hershey Chocolate Company and Hershey Entertainment and Resorts, Quaker Oats, AstraZeneca, 3M, Conoco, Pacific Gas & Electric, Southern California Edison, Motorola, KPFF, Territory Ahead, U.S. Department of Defense, and various entrepreneurial organizations.
